Purpose of the subject (module)
The aim of subject Piano is to form higher level practical skills of performing various styles of music (solo or with accompaniment) than those developed by special music schools, as well as work on student's artistic expression, learning and rehearsing, music reading; to provide students with the basics of concert repertoire knowledge, develop repertoire skills according to needs and individual abilities, teach planning of repertoire stages of preparation and their consistent implementation, develop skills for self-study, observe and solve traditional problems in the creative process, form the ability to observe and analyse their creative process and critically evaluate its results, form the need to observe concert life and participate in it.
Short description of the subject (module) (up to 500 characters)
Piano is the major subject in performance art studies. During the course of the studies of this subject, practical and artistic skills of solo playing the chosen musical instruments, that are necessary for interpretation of various styles of music, such as artistic expression, repertoire creation, learning, rehearsing and reading musical text, are developed; students learn the main repertoire of the chosen branch, acquire concert practice, learn to critically evaluate their artistic activity. During the course of individual practical instrument playing training, the repertoire mandatory for a respective semester is selected under the teacher's supervision. Specific features of interpretation of selected musical pieces are discussed and students learn to perform them properly in terms of style, genre, form, interpretation and performance technique. Repertoire preparation stages are planned, the plan of rehearsals is drawn up and the schedule of concerts is prepared.

Purpose of the subject (module)
The aim of subject Accompaniment (for Piano) is to provide students with the fundamentals of accompaniment repertoire; develop performance art competences related to the ability to accompany singers and instrumentalists on piano; familiarise them with the specific nature of orchestral accompaniment for opera and instrumental music and various stylistic properties of Lied (art song) performance art; develop skills of cooperation with creative partners, noticing and solving problems arising in the creative process; plan preparation stages of the repertoire performed and implement them consistently; develop the ability to observe and analyse one's creative process and assess its results critically.

Short description of the subject (module) (up to 500 characters)

Accompaniment is a special subject in the programme of performance art studies. It develops practical and artistic abilities to accompany vocalists and instrumentalists (string, wind, folk, percussion instrument performers) on piano when performing pieces with piano accompaniment and perform orchestral accompaniment for vocal and instrumental pieces adapted to the piano (claviers) through acquisition of skills enabling to interpret music of different genres, periods and styles; one of its aims is to familiarise students with the main aspects of Lied (art song) interpretation. Under the teacher's supervision, students learn to read text from vocal and instrumental music claviers; they are familiarised with scores. The main accompaniment repertoire is built up; concert experience is gained; students learn how to work with soloist vocalists and instrumentalists as well as assess their artistic activity critically.

Purpose of the subject (module)
The aim of the subject Chamber Ensemble (Piano) is to develop practical skills of performing various styles of chamber ensemble repertoire, form the ability to work in a group: plan the stages of preparing the selected repertoire with a partner and to implement them consistently, as well as develop music ensemble skills and ability to collectively solve problems occurring during the creative process; help students form the ability to monitor and analyse their creative process and critically evaluate its results.
Short description of the subject (module) (up to 500 characters)

The subject Chamber Ensemble is the study of large-scale works of two or more equivalent musical parts. While studying the subject of Chamber Ensemble, the practical and artistic skills of playing in a chamber ensemble, necessary for the interpretation of various styles of chamber music: musical text reading skills, learning and rehearsals, artistic expression, are developed. The main repertoire of chamber music is learned (ensembles with piano: duets, trio), concert practice is acquired, students learn to critically evaluate their artistic activity.

During the course of chamber ensemble individual lectures, the repertoire required for the respective semester is chosen: suite, variations, large multifaceted form, is selected with the help of the pedagogue of the Department of the Chamber Ensemble. It is required for works of different epochs to be studied every semester. One work is prepared for the assessment, the sketch of the other is studied during the semester. The peculiarities of the interpretation of selected musical works are discussed and students learn to perform them properly in terms of style, genre, form, interpretation and performance technique. Repertoire preparation periods are planned, a rehearsal plan is drawn up, and a concert calendar is planned.

Assessment basis

10 (Excellent). Exceptional artistic maturity and mastery. Extremely bright, artistic, emotional and especially convincing performance of a musical programme, showing exceptional and artistically meaningful ensemble and individual quality skills, as well as a clear understanding of the style, genre and form of the performed repertoire.

9 (Very good). Artistic maturity and mastery. Artistically mature and masterful performance of the chosen repertoire. Accurate in terms of musical text and style, artistic and convincing performance, revealing clear technical abilities of the chamber ensemble, the understanding of style and genre.

8 (Good). Artistic maturity. Accurate performance in terms of musical text, emotional and artistic performance of a musical programme, showing the necessary maturity of the chamber ensemble technique, understanding of genre and form, and the ability to manage the situation in case of accidental mistakes, but lacking persuasion.

7 (Highly satisfactory). Basic music performance skills. Accurate performance in terms of musical text, but lacking one or more of the following skills necessary for artistic maturity: ensemble technique, sense of style, understanding of genre or form.

6 (Satisfactory). Satisfactory music performance skills. Mechanical performance of a musical programme with significant errors, demonstrating artistically satisfactory abilities related to deficiencies in ensemble technique, artistic persuasion, style, genre, and sense of form.

5 (Sufficient). Weak music performance skills. Lacklustre, lacking ensemble technique and artistry, weak performance of the musical programme in terms of sense of style, genre or form.

4 (Unsatisfactory). The performance of the musical programme is unsatisfactory in terms of the main evaluation criteria.

Purpose of the subject (module)
The aim of the subject Chamber Ensemble (Piano, Strings, Woodwind Instruments) is to develop practical skills of performing various styles of chamber ensemble repertoire, form the ability to work in a group: plan the stages of preparing the selected repertoire with a partner and to implement them consistently, as well as develop music ensemble skills and ability to collectively solve problems occurring during the creative process; help students form the ability to monitor and analyse their creative process and critically evaluate its results.
Short description of the subject (module) (up to 500 characters)
The subject of a chamber ensemble is the study of large-scope works of two or more equivalent musical parts. While studying the subject of a chamber ensemble, practical and artistic skills of playing in a chamber ensemble of mixed composition, necessary for the interpretation of various styles of chamber music, such as musical text reading skills, learning and rehearsals, artistic expression, are developed. The students learn the main repertoire of chamber music (ensembles with piano: duets, trios, quartets, other ensembles of various compositions), acquire concert practice, learn to critically evaluate his/her artistic activity. During the course of individual lectures of the chamber ensemble, students choose the repertoire required for the respective semester (i.e., suite, variations, large multifaceted form) with the guidance of the pedagogue of the Department of Chamber Ensemble. It is required for works of different epochs to be studied every semester – from classics to the musical works of the 21st century. One work is prepared for the assessment, the sketch of the other is studied during the semester. The peculiarities of the interpretation of selected musical works are discussed and students learn to perform them properly in terms of style, genre, form, interpretation and performance technique. Repertoire preparation periods are planned, a rehearsal plan is drawn up, and a concert calendar is planned.
